“ Al was a little guy when his family moved in next door to us. He was a hyper little guy full of mischief. He was a wonderful daddy to his little girl, Khloe. She was his world. He was very close to his Momma, Suzie and his Grandpa C. I enjoyed seeing him helping his Grandpa at their house in recent years. He and his loving best friend, Katie, came to help with big outdoor landscaping maintenance for his Grandpa. He was such a friendly guy. I'm sure his Grandma Sue welcomed him with open arms.

“ Alvery was one of my best friend as we grew up together. I will never forget the times where we would just hang out at his house and play video games, have Nerf wars or play with his Cars from the movie Cars which he had a huge opposition over (sorry buddy), also get in trouble a lot. We never had a dull moment together as we would mess around in the basement. Saying all this brings back so many memories of the times we spent together. I'll miss you pal and I'll forever treasure the memories we made together. -Tyler Bishop

“ One deer season I went out with Al and his grandpa. We went to a couple different places that weekend and it was probably the only deer season that Al never got a deer, at least up until that point. We were probably 15. I usually don't have great luck, so we concluded that I was the bad luck charm for deer. We all had a good time.
