“Marsha, you were my dearest friend. We sang together, laughed together, jogged together, worked picking beans together and I have you in my heart. You've been at an honored place in my heart all my life. We lived together our Senior Year and probably got in her mother's hair constantly!

I have loved you my whole life, and will continue to love you for the rest of my time here on Earth and beyond. I know you're helping the angels laugh with a wink and a smile! Hugging you!

“Marsha, “why can't the tray of plants go over here in the green house? You are my plant bestie and I will always miss you.

“Marsha was always larger than life, full of mirth, laughter and vitality. Her booming voice and belly laughs preceded her anytime, anywhere. She was not one to be ignored and you could not help but feel strong, hopeful and purposeful when working with Marsha. She had confidence and an expansive vision. The chapter would not have the thriving arboretum, or successful plant sales year after year or become an independent 501(C)3 organization without her inspiration, unflinching hard work and leadership. Marsha was fearlessness embodied. As a bonus, her kindness brought out the best from everyone around her. She was a force akin to sunshine in our garden.

I will sorely miss you, Marsha, but I resolve to carry on in your spirit and legacy.

“What can I say, Marsha was one of a kind. I first meant Marsha in 2010 in our MGclass. Over the years I have had the pleasure and honor to work with her. The MG's lost a great leader, a beautiful person and I lost a great friend. RIP

“ I don't remember when I met Marsha but it must have been in Middle School. By the time of High School our friendship was a fixture in both of our lives. She could always be counted on to tell you her opinion as well as generously flashing her impish grin. We even lived together for about a year.

Marsha and I reconnected recently and it was like we had never lost touch these past twenty-something odd years. She was still the friend who lived in my memory and my heart. I feel blessed that these past two months we shared final revelations and many laughs. I only wish we had more time together.

Marsha I will always love you. I'm grateful for your presence in my life. You were adored by so many. I will see you on the other side.

“ Marsha had the most infectious laugh that I have ever heard. She had a serious and caring side, but always with a sense of fun. The garden and her garden friends were two of her great joys. She will be missed.

“Marsha was a larger than life presence - never shy in her thoughts, but always kind and caring when shared. She was a leader and a teacher, and a witty comic. She had a knack for lighthearted teasing and fun that drew all of us in, including my husband. The Gardeners will go on, at Marsha’s insistence, but the void in our hearts that has been left behind will not easily close. My dear friend, I will miss you tremendously but will go forward in love and kindness, doing my best to live up to your expectations of goodwill and hope for our community.
