“ I have such fun memories of Aunt Billie from when I would visit all the relatives growing up. I liked picking vegetables on my grandparent's farm. Us kids were allowed to pick tomatoes, cucumbers and maybe bell peppers (the easy vegetables). One time Aunt Billie and another aunt were going out to pick eggplant. I wanted to go so they took me.

In the field they told me not to tell anyone else. I asked why and they told me because my Grandfather, their father, Frank Hoelscher, didn't want us kids picking eggplant because they bruise easily. Oh, I hope I haven't gotten anyone in trouble! ;)

“ Carol, I am so happy that we were able to take our mother’s to lunch a few times. We also had fun taking them to a Cardinals day game and sitting in the wheelchair section. They also got the delight of having lunch in Soulard and taking the van to the game! Billy was so nice, I know she will be missed by so many.□
