“ And another one was when I was probably eight. She picked me up in the terino with a Passenger side door that would fly open by itself. And she dragged me by the car handle and poured through my parking lot and ripped the knees out of my tough skin brand jeans..my mom was mad about it. I didn't tell her how it happened..just said I did it playing..

Mike I had a similar situation with Mom it was in the El Camino she thought I was climbing in the back of the truck thought I was in it and took off and I put hit the tire and I face planted the pavement and she was worried about the peanut butter rolling down the street

“ Summers were always fun at Aunt Teri's house. From camping out in the back yard to swimming in the pool! She always played the best music and every time I hear Van Morrison I think of her! She was the best baker and I will forever crave her homemade donuts.
Aunt Teri is very loved and missed!!!

“ One of my favorite memories of Grammy will always be her pointing up that finger when a good song came on. She loved a good mystery movie/show too! She would always say what she thought was going to happen next (probably right). Too funny. I also remember spending the whole summers at her house. We would play outside all day and come in and she would always have some tasty treats waiting for us. She was a wild one, and never was afraid to speak her mind! She sure is going to be missed.
