“ I feel so lucky that I got to work closely with Todd over the last 8 months at Edward Jones. He was such a talented and kind guy. Pure hearted and insightful. We had a lot of laughs and talked about a wide spectrum of things from spirituality to fantasy football and everything in between. He was wise and measured in his approach to research and, I'd guess, to all aspects of his life. He looked out for those he cared about and advocated on their behalf. He pushed himself to be the best version of himself that he could be, bravely challenging himself to get out of his comfort zone. He was a beloved member of our team and we will carry him with us and we will speak of him often to preserve his memory. Our hearts and prayers are with his closest loved ones and particularly with his family. We will miss you, dear friend.

“ As a colleague at Allstate, I had the pleasure of working closely with Todd and getting to know him as a person. He did great work. He was thoughtful, self-critical and he had a wonderful sense of humor that brightened each day that I spoke with him. My deepest condolences to his family, and please know that all of my colleagues who knew him and I are reeling from this loss.

“ Todd was very kind. He was a good friend, one of those people who made sure to check in from time to time simply to ask how life was going. I enjoyed getting to know him better when he lived in Omaha a few years back, and I have good memories of hanging out with Todd and other friends at church weekends, camps, hockey games, etc. Most recently, I got to see him and his family at the Feast in San Diego, and I'll always be grateful for that. Todd will be missed, and I'm praying for his family during this time. ”
